Hyderabad, February 04: A software engineer working for a multinational company was arrested by CID officials in Bengaluru on Friday for uploading obscene images and content of a former woman colleague. The accused, T Satish, and the victim had worked together in Hyderabad in the past and become good friends.

Taking advantage of their friendship, Satish blackmailed her and made her agree to marry him. Subsequently, he took some obscene photographs of her by threatening her. Offended by his behaviour, the woman gradually distanced herself from him and finally stopped talking with him. Irked, Satish hacked her e-mail ID and sent her obscene pictures to the contact list.

He also created a fake Facebook account of hers and uploaded her obscene pictures and sent the same to her friends and relatives. CID sleuths arrested Satish in Bangalore and seized a laptop, a hard disk and an iPhone from him
